Lublin, 01-03 December 2017 r.

International Conference of Natural and Medical Sciences, Young Scientists, PhD Students and Students

The Conference with training workshops will be held on 1-3 December 2017 in Lublin Conference Centre in Lublin. The event is addressed to young scientists up to 35 years of age, students, and PhD students of natural and medical sciences.

The Conference has received Honorary Patronage of Polish Academy of Sciences – Professor MD, DSc Stanisław Czuczwar.

Participants of the Conference may present works about medicine or nature. Every presenting participant will be able to participate in free training workshops, publish the work and to cooperate with publishing companies. Additionally, the event may interest people who want to gain knowledge, points for scholarship, or points for qualification procedures for doctoral studies.
